PRICE INCREASE NOTICE

June 15, 2026

To Our Valued Business Partners,

Superior Aluminum has always worked diligently to maintain price consistency in volatile commodities markets. We purchase aluminum strategically through long-term price contracts and, while this approach has been effective in minimizing volatility which shields our customers from short-term market swings, the sustained rise in aluminum costs has reached a level we can no longer absorb. Since our last cost adjustment, raw aluminum prices have climbed an additional 24%, directly affecting our input costs. This increase is necessary and will be reflected in all orders going forward.

Effective July 15, 2026, the following price increases will apply:

- 8% Price Increase on all Stock Items (Columns and Standard Boxed Railing Kits)
- 4% Price Increase on custom Aluminum Railing

These adjustments reflect the relative aluminum material content of each product line. Columns are primarily composed of raw aluminum, resulting in a higher percentage increase, while custom railing products incorporate a greater degree of labor and fabrication, reducing the proportional impact of raw material costs on their overall price.

For customers who purchase using our price book / multiplier sheets, a new multiplier sheet is linked here that reflects these new discounts. Our Stock Item Price Book dated September 2024 on the cover's bottom right corner remains the price book in effect, the only change is the multiplier. Please update your records accordingly.

We want to emphasize the following important points:

- These price increases reflect the current elevated cost of aluminum and raw materials and will be reassessed as market conditions evolve.
- If aluminum and raw material costs decrease, prices will be reduced accordingly when base aluminum costs return to more favorable levels.

Superior Aluminum remains committed to transparency and fairness. We will continue to monitor market and regulatory developments closely and will communicate promptly if conditions change.

We encourage all customers to review your upcoming project and release schedules in light of this change. Our sales team is available to discuss any pending quotes or future needs to ensure a smooth transition and minimal disruption to your business.

We greatly appreciate our continued partnership as we navigate these market-driven challenges together.

Sincerely,

Ryan Nichols

Vice President of Sales
