Dear Valued Customer:

As much as we had hoped to navigate the rough waters our industry is facing without raising our prices, it is now apparent that our optimism has reached its limit, and we simply have no choice but to act. Unfortunately, due to the U.S. Section 232 tariffs, which increased to 50% effective June 4th, 2025, on imported steel and aluminum, we are forced to implement a 10% surcharge on all purchase orders received in-house on or after July 1, 2025.

This additional amount will be a line item on all invoices issued by us for purchases and will be clearly listed as a tariff surcharge added to the total amount due. We understand that this increase will likely have an impact on your business, and we hope you will understand that it was done out of necessity, as our raw materials costs continue to rise due to the ripple effect these tariffs have caused within our supply chain. Historically, price increases are a last resort for our company, and this one is no exception. If there is a reduction in the tariffs, we will make adjustments accordingly .

We appreciate your trust in ALPOLIC and welcome any questions you may have regarding this change.

Sincerely,
