Re: Pricing Action – Trex Aluminum Railing

We are writing to inform you of a price adjustment throughout our aluminum railing portfolio, effective June 1, 2026. Please note that orders placed on or after May 4, 2026 will receive new pricing. This change will enable us to continue delivering the quality, performance, and service you expect from Trex.

We recognize that price changes can present challenges, and we want to emphasize that this decision was made thoughtfully and deliberately. The aluminum raw material market continues to experience sustained cost pressure. While competitors announced price increases earlier this year, Trex has worked diligently to resist adjustments for as long as possible. Considering current market realities, we are implementing a modest increase to remain competitive while maintaining product quality and supply reliability.
